

Well, I guess it's safe to say we are all still hanging in there as we continue in lock down. I trust you are all well and that things at your place are still ticking over ok.

I've spent lots of time catching up on reading, I have found the really interesting case studies on NZ Golf, and while they are only case studies, there are some great ideas in there that we could put into practice. Also the help section of our accounting and payroll package have articles that will help get the best out of these for us.

I'm also trying to come up with a list of jobs that get done around the Club so we can set up something like a volunteer register and if needed match jobs with people with those skills. Your help in this list would be appreciated, so let me know all the jobs you already do, and any you think could be done and I'll get them on the list.

I was doing a grocery pick-up today, and it got me thinking about our sponsors, and how we can help them.

Pac'nSave and New World are both still open, and I am sure you are supporting them, but there are a couple of others that are out there, still working and able to help.

Fresh Market are taking phone orders and will deliver these, and they are tremendous supporters of club events and twilight.

Also our Chemist members - still dispensing medicines and more importantly flu vaccines. I can't speak for all of them, but I know Total Health and Edgecumbe Pharmacy have flu shots, so if you are looking to get yours, give them a call.

I guess when this is all over, we may see some impact on our sponsorships as businesses get up and running again, so it is important to show them that we are there for them.

Awesome picture and article in the Beacon today of Tukai out working on the course. Such good news that this can be done, and I am sure when we get the go ahead to open, our wonderful band of volunteers will be out there getting it all ready to go. Hopefully, that is not too far away, and for me, I have to admit I miss the view out of my window.

I realise there are a lot of people still not getting the email, so I going to attempt to get a link on both our website and Facebook page to access it. Can some-one/anyone let me know is this is successful, and if so, will get the previous ones up on the website at least. Cheers

For anyone worried about the beer supply during lock down, don't worry I bled the beer lines before I left, so it should be all go on return.

I am ashamed to say the other day I boiled my kettle 21 times, but thankfully didn't make and drink 21 cups of coffee. I guess if I can't remember what I were going to do, I put the kettle on. And it's ok, my coffee consumption is in single digits.

Will sign this off now, and hopefully if it goes on the Facebook page or website, you can let you non-receiving friends know.

Stay safe folks, I have really noticed over the last couple of weeks just how much social interaction I have at work with everybody, and whilst I enjoyed the quiet at home at night, having it all day is a different things. Guess that means I am missing you all, and can't wait to get back out there and catch-up with everybody.

Some of the things on-line are hilarious, and I say this the other day: 'So how is your tan from the fridge light?'

I'm glad I don't have chips/biscuits/lollies at my house, because I think I would just binge eat and that would be the end, and it is just too easy to 'snack'

Take care everyone

TERESA
